SANTORINI MYKONOS ISLAND

Take a boat to Mykonos Island.

Mykonos combines the style of a European city with the relaxed vibe of the Aegean Sea — blue skies, white houses, and windmills everywhere. The island has beautiful beaches, gentle hills, and exciting nightlife that never stops.

The town is like a maze with narrow streets, where even with a map you might get lost. Every summer, thousands of travelers visit, yet Mykonos still keeps its natural beauty — fishing boats, luxury yachts, donkeys walking on the hills, and friendly pelicans make the island full of charm.

The beaches are the highlight — especially Paradise Beach, famous for its "4S": Sun, Sea, Sand, and Sexy.

The Windmills of Mykonos, built in the 16th century, are another symbol of the island. From the hill, you can see the whole town, the sea breeze, and the white houses — that's why Mykonos is known as the "Island of Windmills."

The Temple of Apollo was dedicated to the god of light, music, poetry, medicine, and herding—one of the most revered deities in ancient Greece. The ancient Greeks believed that Delphi was the very center of the earth, the “navel of the world.”

After the visit, continue the journey by coach to Kalabaka. Upon arrival, enjoy dinner and check in to the hotel for a restful night.

KALABAKA - METEORA - ATHENS

After breakfast, drive to the "City in the Sky" — Meteora, where you will visit two of its famous monasteries. The Meteora monasteries are perched atop towering rock pillars that rise dramatically from the vast Thessalian plain, some reaching heights of over 400 meters. Each rock formation varies in shape and color, creating a breathtaking natural landscape.

Since the 11th century, monks have been seeking spiritual solitude and practicing their faith atop these nearly inaccessible peaks, building monasteries that seem to touch the heavens.
